

We can all contribute to climate protection!

Good ideas and practical approaches are needed to reach those who may not have access to relevant information and do not know how or where to start.

Climate Box is a two-year EU project that aims to increase awareness and knowledge on climate change and climate actions among disadvantaged adults. To this end, it will equip adult educators and trainers with the necessary tools to improve awareness of climate issues, stimulate discussion, and motivate people to lead a more climate-friendly lifestyle.

Climate Box will develop and provide training materials tailored to the specific needs of the target group, with a particular focus on basic information applicable to everyday life, such as energy and food consumption, water use, clothing and mobility choices. For this purpose, the project will create a toolbox containing small-scale and ready-to-use learning units, which educators and trainers can integrate into their courses to increase climate awareness and motivate participants to live a more climate-friendly lifestyle.

Expected Results

Report on climate education: A report highlighting the situation on climate education and the learning needs of disadvantaged adults, based on extensive research activities in each partner country.

Compilation of training materials: Training materials that can be applied directly by adult educators and trainers in their daily practice.

Learning app for climate education: A mobile learning app for direct access to learning tasks and materials for easy use in daily practice.

Publication: A report presenting best practice and highlighting the relevance of climate education for disadvantaged adults.

If you are an adult educator, trainer or climate expert and would like to know more about or contribute to the project, please contact us and we will gladly give you more information about Climate Box, its results and how you can contribute to them!
